It makes so much cents!

THE ENERGY TAX BILL WAS SIGNED INTO LAW IN AUGUST OF 2005. FOR HOME OWNERS, INSTALLING NEW ENERGY-EFFICIENT NORANDEX/REYNOLDS BUILDING PRODUCTS NOT ONLY ADDS COMFORT, VALUE AND BEAUTY TO YOUR HOME, IT NOW MAY GET YOU A BREAK ON YOUR TAXES TOO!

Q: What kind of exterior products are eligible for a Tax Credit?

A: Certain exterior windows, doors, skylights, metal roofing and insulation.

Q: What tax credits will I get for using these products?

A: Generally, if your products meet Energy Star criteria (Dept. of Energy 2003 IECC code), you can deduct

- 10% of the cost of your windows and skylights (up to $200 maximum one-time credit)
- 10% of the cost of your exterior doors (up to $500 maximum one-time credit)
- 10% of the cost of your pigmented metal roofing (up to $500 maximum one-time credit)
- 10% of the cost of your insulation (up to $500 maximum one-time credit)

PLEASE NOTE: There is a TOTAL MAXIMUM $500 energy tax credit available per home owner in 2006/2007.

Q: Just what is a Tax Credit anyway?

A: A tax credit is a dollar-for-dollar reduction of your taxes—generally more valuable than an equivalent tax deduction, which eliminates only a percentage of the tax that is owed.

Q: What do I do to get an Energy Tax Credit?

A: Purchase your Norandex/Reynolds eligible exterior products, then save your receipts as proof of your purchases. The Internal Revenue Service will soon publish all relevant forms, publications and guidelines that will instruct you as to the proper way to itemize your purchases and receive your credits.

Q: How long do I have?

A: Two years. The new Energy Tax Credits pertain to applicable purchases you make beginning January 1, 2006 and ending on December 31, 2007.

Q: Anything else I should know?

A: The new Energy Tax Credits are a one-time only savings opportunity. Don't waste your hard working tax dollars on just any brand. Season after season, year after year, more professional builders, contractors, installers and home owners choose Norandex/Reynolds than any other name in the industry for professional grade quality, reliability and performance.

PLEASE NOTE: Tax Credits are available on the cost of eligible products only, NOT installation.
